

Tests can be performed to assess for the presence of Adderall in a person's blood, urine, hair, and saliva. Adderall can be detected in blood up to 46 hours after last use, and it can be found in urine up to 72 hours after last use. In saliva, Adderall can be identified anywhere from 20 hours to 50 hours after last use. Hair testing is uncommon, but Adderall can be detected in hair up to 3 months after last use.